Training Topics:
- How child welfare system mandates affect treatment considerations
- How children and families experience the child welfare system
- Clinical considerations when working with children and their families
  - Transitions and their impact upon children and families
  - Planning for the future—permanency considerations

DBHS Training Expectation:
“The Unique Behavioral Health Service Needs of Children, Youth and Families Involved with CPS” DBHS Practice Protocol applies to T/RBHAs and their subcontracted network and provider agencies for all behavioral health service providers who have direct contact with or provide services to children, adolescents and their families. To support the training surrounding this Protocol, the behavioral health staff noted above will be required to attend “Unique Needs of Children Involved with CPS” training offered by each RBHA on a regular basis (see Provider Manual Section 9.1)

“NARBHA is the Regional Behavioral Health Authority for Coconino, Navajo, Yavapai, Apache and Mohave counties. Funds for services are provided through a contract with the Arizona Department of Health Services/Division of Behavioral Health Services and AHCCCS'.”
