

Routine Response

A response that is within timeframes indicated by the person's clinical needs, but does not require an immediate or urgent response.